A CALL TO ACTION

Research has consistently shown that maintaining communication with loved ones is crucial for the emotional well-being of military service members. Studies indicate that regular contact with family and friends significantly reduces feelings of isolation, anxiety, and stress during deployment. This connection not only boosts morale but also enhances mental health, helping service members cope with the challenges they face while serving in high-stress environments.

By understanding the profound impact of communication on the well-being of military personnel, we can better advocate for resources and programs that facilitate these vital connections.

Organizations like Cell Phones for Soldiers play a key role in bridging this gap, providing free communication services to our troops.

WHO WE ARE

Cell Phones for Soldiers is a nonprofit organization dedicated to providing communication services to active-duty military members and veterans. Founded in 2004 by siblings Rob and Brittany Bergquist, our mission is to ensure that those who serve our country can stay connected with their loved ones, no matter where they are.

WHO WE SERVE

We proudly serve active-duty service members deployed overseas and veterans. Our programs are tailored to support these men and women where and when they need it most.

Deployed Service Members: We provide free prepaid calling cards to help troops communicate with their families and friends back home. Staying connected during deployment is vital for morale, and our calling cards bridge the distance between loved ones.

Veterans and Stateside Active-Duty Military Members: We offer free or generously discounted cell phone service through our Cell Phones for Soldiers Mobile Program, ensuring access to reliable communication and connection to vital resources. We believe that staying connected is essential for their well-being and reintegration into civilian life.

At Cell Phones for Soldiers, we believe that every soldier deserves to hear the voices of their loved ones and that our veterans should have access to affordable communication services. With the help of generous donors and supporters, we strive to make a meaningful impact in the lives of those who serve our nation. Join us in our mission to honor and support our heroes!
